Section A: (5*2=10)

Write short Notes on the followings:

1. Big Data

2. Data Dictatorship

Section B: (10*2=20)

3. Should there be a law applicable to government/public and private entities processing data? If yes, should there be a separate law to regulate government/public entities collecting data?

4. Should the scope of the law include both automated and manual processing? Should the law apply to manual processing only when such data is intended to be stored in a filing system or in some similar structured format?

Section C: (20*1=20)

5. Big data has a chilling effect on the freedom of speech and expression. Comment.

Section D: (50*1=50)

6. A compendious term that is used to address any action involving data is the term “processing”. To give the broadest possible protection, data protection laws across the globe have tried to develop definitions of data processing in such a manner that they cover all the associated activities that are performed on data. In view of this statement explain the threats posed by data processing; also explain the international practices followed in this regard.
